CKER UP YOUR W-SEASON POUT

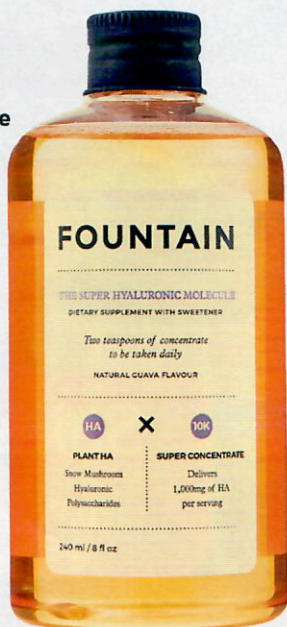

That autumn is in full flow, it's time to talk about season lips. The rule for the colder months is about collaboration between texture and shape, according to Mac's director of lip artistry Terry Barber. Go matt and shiny, like the Alexis Mabilie A/W 16 look, keeping the lips soft and voluptuous. Or pick a glossy finish, as seen on models at Gareth Pugh and nip in corners and sharpen your lips' bow. For the former, try Chanel's latest new Rouge Allure Matte Liquid Lipcolour in pink Créatif (right) or coral Vivant (left, O20 7493 3836, from 7 October). For a glossy, lip-shaped vinyl look, turn to Mac Vamplify Lipgloss in intense burgundy Peer Pressure (£18). Either way, the Mac 231 Small Shader Brush (£16.50, both maccosmetics.co.uk) and a magnifying mirror will afford you the maximum precision for perfecting your pout.

When Fountain's The Super Hyaluronic Molecule supplement launched in 2013, such were the reports of rapid improvement that the bottle was sold every few seconds. Back in a new and more potent incarnation, The Super Hyaluronic Molecule 3, fountain.co, from Saturday packs a punch with 1,000mg of hyaluronic acid per 100ml serving.

PERFECT FOR WEDDINGS AND PARTIES, the new floral up-do service at Aer Blowdry Bar on London's Old Brompton Road weaves fresh blooms into styles inspired by the English countryside. Pick The Wiltshire – a fishtail braid strewn with pretty flowers – or the romantic waves of The Hampshire, embellished with your posy of choice. From £50 plus the price of the flowers, or bring your own at no extra cost; aerblowdrybar.com.

Skin feeling itchy and irritated? The lower humidity, cooler temperatures and increased central heating of the autumn months can cause eczema to flare up. Containing shea butter plus almond and coconut oil, Skinfix Eczema Balm (£14.99, boots.com) is the soothing tonic you need to set skin right again.
